Architecture Awards 2022

BUILD's Architecture Awards programme, year upon year, shines a light upon some of the best architects around the globe. With a challenging time, over the past couple of years, architects are making a huge comeback for the industry. Not only have they managed to weather the storm, but they have exceeded all expectations given the tough situations they have found themselves in. From restrictions to shortages of materials, the industry was hit hard. However, emerging from the dirt, there is a plethora of individuals, teams, and projects that leave us in awe.

With regards to these brilliant masters of their trade, Awards Coordinator, Dean Taylor, congratulates the winners: "As ever, the Architecture Awards' aim is to highlight the true perseverance and prestigious skill of those in the sphere. I am happy to celebrate these wins for those changing the way we see and experience the industry. Proud to commemorate these moments for each and every one of them, I want to wish them a very successful 2022 ahead."
