About Leadership Greensboro

Leadership Greensboro is a unique, three-part development program that looks to education, volunteer leadership, and alumni engagement to guide the leadership skills of participants over the course of nine months. They are consistently more engaged in their communities and more invested in their workplaces after completing the program.

Each year, a diverse cohort of 45 leaders from public, private and non-profit sectors make-up our 9-month program. Together they explore important issues in our community, develop and practice strategies and tools to become more effective leaders and expand personal and professional networks.

Leadership Greensboro classes participate in community-based, team learning projects as part of the graduation requirement. Participants work together and partner with nonprofit organizations to impact not only the missions of those organizations, but the community as a whole.

Community Focus – Members immerse themselves in a leadership program unique to our community and become actively involved in making the community an even better place to live.

For our leaders from diverse industries, the projects also provide a group learning experience in addressing a community need, an opportunity to apply new leadership capabilities toward a greater Greensboro, an opportunity to foster collaborative experiences with community partners, and exposure to broad community challenges. Leadership Greensboro classes are actively involved in making Greensboro even better!
